

center
— for — native
plants

Fireweed

Chamerion angustifolium
Evening Primrose Family

JUL-SEP

H 36" -60"

- The common name comes from its sudden appearance after a wildfire
- Rhizomatous
- Herbalists use fireweed leaves in tea to relieve digestive problems and as a wash to heal skin irritations
- Effective in taking up nutrients from the soil, promoting nutrient capture, accumulation, and cycling on newly reclaimed sites