

center
—for—native
plants

Red Monkeyflower

Erythranthe lewisii
Lopseed Family

JUN-AUG

H 12"-36"

- A rhizomatous perennial
- Plant in moist sites
- Named because the flower is said to look like the face of a smiling monkey
- Has leaves with hairs that trap insects, making this plant partially carnivorous