

Photo Credit: Matt Lavin

Sticky Geranium

Geranium viscosissimum
Geranium Family

- Seeds provide food for birds and small mammals
- Pollinated by flies, butterflies, and bees
- Has a very unique seed head
- Is protocarnivorous; it is able to dissolve protein, such as insects, that become trapped on its leaf surface and absorb the nitrogen derived from the protein

