

Photo Credit: Andrey Zharkikh
flickr.com/photos/33497841@N02/28378315524

Booths Willow

Salix boothii
Willow Family

- Shrub-type Willow, most common along wetlands, streams and lakes, montane to subalpine
- Shade intolerant
- Seed-bearing capsules are clustered into female catkins 3/4 - 2" long
- Occupies riparian and wet meadow communities in all western states